

Social and Personal Mention

(Conducted by Miss Florence Corwin. Office Phones, Both 21; Residence Phone, Home 1310.)

A beautiful and impressive wedding took place this morning at half after nine o'clock, at the St. Paul's Episcopal church, when Miss Ruth Schooley and Mr. Mora Bulla were united in marriage. The Rev. Mr. Huntington, rector of the church, performed the ceremony which was the beautiful Episcopal one, in the presence of many friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Leading the procession came the full vested choir which sang an appropriate hymn as it proceeded up the aisle. Following, came the bridesmaids, Mr. Henry Bulla, Mr. Edwin Wilson and William Doughty of Cincinnati, who were followed by the minister. Next came the bride with her father, who gave her away. The groom met them at the altar.

The church was converted into a bower of beauty. The altar had white hangings and around the chancel rail were draped ferns and honeysuckle. Vases of carnations and sweet peas were also used to mark off the pews for the use of the families. The bride wore a white coat suit, with a white hat trimmed with plumes and white roses. Her traveling gown was a gray suit, with hat and gloves to match.

Following the ceremony a reception was given for fifty friends at the home of the bride on North I street. The decorations there were clusters of ferns and roses through out the rooms. A buffet luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Bulla left this morning for a honeymoon trip to the north and on their return will be at home to their friends at Gas City, Ind., where Mr. Bulla is a physician. After the ceremony the guests were entertained at the home of the bride on South Sixth street. Both young people are well and favorably known and have the best wishes of many friends.

One of the prettiest of the June weddings of the season was the one which took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin A. Mariatt on South Ninth street at eight o'clock Tuesday evening, when their daughter, Alice Lois was united in marriage to Dr. L. S. Chenoweth. The marriage ceremony was preceded by two vocal selections, "O Promise Me" and "O Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star," exquisitely rendered by Miss Carolyn Karl. The bridal party entered the parlors to the ever popular and beautiful strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, as played on the piano by Miss Edna Mariatt, a cousin of the bride. As attendants to the bride and also ribbon bearers, were two little flower girls, Miss Mary Mariatt, sister of the bride, and Miss Reba Jordan, niece of the groom. The Rev. A. T. Ware, of the East Main Street Friends' church, performed the ceremony, which was the simple and impressive one of the Friends' church.

The bride was beautifully gowned in dotted lace over heavy white tulle. Her only ornament was a topaz necklace, the gift of the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The attendants were dressed in charming frocks of embroidered swiss with trimmings of lace and ribbons.

The home was beautifully decorated in green and white. In the parlor the ceremony was performed in front of a banking of palms. The chandeliers, doors and windows were festooned with smilax and the mantels banked with white carnations. In the dining room white roses were used. The place cards were handpainted designs of hearts and white roses, bearing the monograms of the bride and groom in gold. In each room cathedral candles were used effectively.

The guests numbered seventy-five, among those from out of town being Miss Ethel Bond, Mrs. Maud Woodruff and Miss Lucile Jones of Greensfork, Mrs. Waltz and daughter Geraldine of Anderson. Mrs. U. B. G. Ewing's Sunday school class of the First M. E. church picked up at Glen Miller Wednesday evening. The class is composed of young women. The occasion was a pleasant one.

In the medical press in the story of man who believed he was dead and who for that reason refused to take any nourishment. "How can the dead eat and drink?" he asked, when food was pressed upon him. It was obvious that unless something was done to bring him to his senses the delusion must soon become actuality; he would die of starvation. The strangest ruse was tried. Half a dozen attendants, draped in ghostly white, crept silently in single file into the room adjoining his, and with the door open, sat down where he could see them, to a hearty meal. "Here, who are these people?" inquired the patient. "Dead men," answered the doctor. "What," said the other. "Do dead men eat?" "To be sure they do, as you see for yourself," was the answer. "Well," said the corpse, "if that is so, I'll join them, for I am starving." The spell was broken, and he sat down and ate like forty famished men.

INFORMATION ASKED OF LOCAL SHIPPERS

Number of Loaded Cars Into And Out of the City Has Been Requested

BY THE STATE COMMISSION

UPON RECEIPT OF THIS INFORMATION DECISION AS TO FREIGHT INTERCHANGE PROBABLY WILL BE MADE.

Secretary Haas of the Commercial club has prepared and forwarded to all the known shippers of Richmond a letter requesting that they give him the number of loaded cars coming into and going out from their concerns in a year, and the points to which and from which freight comes. The information thus secured will be forwarded to the state railroad commission and on receipt of it it is thought the commissioners will render their decision in regard to the Pennsylvania railroad's protest against the interchange of freight in Richmond.

There is more than one reason for believing that Richmond will get the interchange so long needed. The primary reason for so thinking is the attitude of the board while here. A long list of shippers was handed to the commission, whose testimony it was felt would influence a decision in favor of interchange. The board used only a few names on the list and when asked if they did not want to continue with the examination of more shippers, said that it would be useless as all told the same story—that of wanting better freight shipping facilities.

It was noted by those in attendance at the commission's hearing that many times the commissioners questioned the shippers in regard to their use of Indiana coal and possibility of getting it under the present conditions. In many cases the shippers expressed a desire to use Indiana coal, which is cheaper than the eastern product, but said they were unable to do so on account of the C. C. & L. not connecting directly with the coal fields of this state. The desire to develop the Indiana coal lands, it is felt, will go a long way toward influencing the commission's decision in favor of the local shippers.

Supt. Gordon of the Richmond Street and Interurban company said today that his company would save $2,500 annually if there was an interchange of freight which would enable it to get Indiana coal for use at the local power plant.

TRACTIONS WON OUT

Supreme Court Says They Cannot Be Excluded From the Streets.

Indianapolis, June 26.—The interurbans won the test case brought by College Avenue residents for damages to property in depreciation of values due to running a great number of cars. The supreme court held that interurban cars can not be excluded from the streets but must run at legal speed.

RAY JORDAN IS VERY SICK.

Anti-Toxin Administered in Hope of Saving His Life.

Ray, the twelve-year-old son of Edgar Jordan of Whitewater, is seriously sick from diphtheria. Anti-toxin has been administered to the patient, but his parents are fearful lest the treatment was postponed too long.

Newton and his Wails.

Sir Isaac Newton was so much the victim of forgetfulness and mental blindness in ordinary matters that his friends thought little of it. On visiting Sir Isaac one morning Dr. Stukely, one of his intimates, was ushered into the parlor by a maid and informed that her master was engaged upstairs, but would be down presently.

The guest waited, and time slipped by, but Newton did not appear. The doctor became restless and was on the point of departing, but decided to remain. After a long stay the maid appeared in the parlor with a cooked fowl, which she placed on a table in anticipation of Sir Isaac's appearance to eat his midday meal. Strikely grew more and more hungry, as the smell from the fowl was highly tempting. Finally, as his friend had not come, he could withstand temptation no longer, and, turning to the fowl, he finished it. It was some time after that that the scientist appeared and gazed at the remains of the meal with a perplexed expression.

"I protest I had forgotten that I had eaten my dinner," he remarked. "You see, doctor, how shippers we philosophers are!"

A Greedy Little Fish.

The little fish known as miller's thumb—the fresh water sculpin—is one of the natural checks on the overproduction of trout and salmon. It eats the eggs and the young fish. It is found in nearly all trout waters. It is very destructive. At an experiment once made in the aquarium of the United States fish commission in Washington, a miller's thumb about four and one-half inches long ate at a single meal, and all within a minute or two, twenty-one little trout, each from three-quarters of an inch to an inch in length.

"When you think of Norway you see glaciers reflected in the sea, or the midnight sun sending its red rays over the landscape, whales ejecting water fountains in the fjords; or you see the winter wit, the glimmering frosty white snow, girls and boys in bright colored dresses running on skis. This is all very pretty," writes William Peters in the International Studio, "but in pictures it is rather suggestive of Christmas cards. I will not say that it is unpaintable, but it does not give place for art—it becomes vulgar. Why, I can not shortly tell, but I am sure it would offer an interesting subject for examination. What is picturesque and what is too picturesque? I give this question to art critics."

The clause "I don't care a fig" is a case of mistaken identity. The proper expression is "I don't care a fig." The word "fig" means a snapping of the fingers to denote contempt. Shakespeare used it in its proper significance when he wrote, "A fig for the phrase!"

HAT FACTORY EQUIPMENT DISPOSED OF

It Was Bid in by Messrs. Simon, Wagner and Cook, of Wabash for $3,060.

THE NEW OWNERS ARE HIGHLY PLEASED WITH RICHMOND. BOTH AS A BUSINESS AND RESIDENCE PLACE.

The machinery and equipment of the Richmond hat factory was sold this morning at public sale to Messrs. Simon, Wagner and Cook, three prominent business men of Wabash, Ind. The purchase price was $3,060. The plant was sold by Wm. K. Bradbury, trustee, who held a mortgage made to him by the creditors of the concern.

It is highly probable that the business of the plant will be continued at its present location on the south side of Main street between Ninth and Tenth streets. If the new owners decide to leave the concern in its present location they will improve it considerably and more than double the output of the plant under its former management. Mr. Wagner, one of the purchasers, is a practical hatter with twenty-five years' experience while the men associated with him are amply able to furnish all the funds needed to increase the capacity of the plant and carry on the business.

The new owners are highly pleased with Richmond both as a business and residence place. It is their intention to so extend the business they have bought as to make it necessary to have quarters in a building of their own.

The Wabash men purchased only the equipment, while the stock, both finished and unfinished and the book accounts remain the property of the former company. The heaviest stockholders in the former management were Frank Kibbey and Jesse Fletcher. Mr. Kibbey said that the equipment sold today for slightly over $3,000 he considered to be worth at least $20,000. The failure of his company he said had been due primarily to the lack of funds with which to conduct the business. He said that at no time during his connection with the concern was there less than double the orders on the company's books than could be filled. He feels certain that the new owners will make a splendid factory out of the defunct plant.

STREET IMPROVEMENT RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Board of Works Acts on North E Street Matter.

MEANS EARLY DECISION.

The board of public works passed a resolution recommending a brick pavement for North E street from Tenth to Sixteenth and new sidewalks and gutters of cement except where the sidewalks are now paved with star brick. There has been much complaint about the condition of North E street. The heavy hauling on that street keeps it in a very undesirable condition. There has been much discussion as to the kind of street needed and it is probable that a remonstrance will be made against the decision of the board to put in such a paving as is now on Main street. The action taken by the board will bring the matter to a decision and this is what is desired.

ART EXHIBIT HAS GONE INTO HISTORY

Display Successfully Carried On for Two Weeks Ended Tuesday Night.

CREDIT TO THE OFFICERS.

PICTURES SELECTED BY THE PURCHASE COMMITTEE WILL BE HELD HERE UNTIL DUMOND IS HEARD FROM.

The art exhibit is closed. Where for the past two weeks hundreds of beautiful pictures have rested, now the bare walls greet the eyes. The pictures are rapidly being packed and sent to their owners.

All day Tuesday the halls were crowded with persons desiring to take a last look at the contributions which have made this year's exhibit the greatest ever held in this city from the standpoint of beauty, completeness and quality. Decker's orchestra furnished music for the exhibit at night.

Too much cannot be said for the officers who made this year's event the "greatest ever." Mrs. Johnston, president of the local art association, gave evidence of her hard work by the completeness of the exhibit and the many excellent attractions offered. All committees and committee chairmen come in for their share of the praise in the work that was accomplished this year. "At the Well," by Frank DuMont, and "The Platoon," by Collon Campbell Cooper, the two paintings on which the purchase committee is doling, are being held here until word can be received from Mr. DuMont as to whether he will accept the price offered by the local association. If not, Mr. Cooper's picture will be retained by the local association.
